

Study of Human Rights of Women in India

Trupti Bhaskarrao Kaloge

L.L.M 1st yr Sem. IInd

School of Law, Sandip University, Nashik, Maharashtra, India

Abstract: This research paper delves into the multifaceted landscape of human rights in India, examining the challenges, progress, and prospects within the nation. India, as the world's largest democracy, grapples with a myriad of human rights issues stemming from its diverse socio-cultural fabric, historical legacies, and institutional structures. The paper begins by providing an overview of the concept of human rights, emphasizing its universal applicability and the legal frameworks that govern it within the Indian context, including constitutional provisions, international conventions, and domestic laws.

Furthermore, the paper scrutinizes the major human rights challenges prevalent in India, encompassing areas such as gender inequality, caste discrimination, religious intolerance, socio-economic disparities, access to justice, and violations of civil and political rights. It critically analyzes the root causes, manifestations, and consequences of these challenges, drawing upon empirical data, case studies, and scholarly research.

Additionally, the paper explores the prospects for enhancing human rights in India, considering emerging trends, evolving legal frameworks, and societal dynamics. It identifies areas for reform and recommends strategies to address persistent human rights challenges effectively, emphasizing the importance of holistic approaches that integrate legal, institutional, socio-economic, and cultural dimensions.

Keywords: Human rights, India, Challenges, Progress, Prospects, Equality, Justice, Democracy.

REFERENCES

- [1]. Agrawal, B. (1994). A Field of One's Own: Gender and Land Rights in South Asia. Cambridge University Press.
- [2]. Government of India. (2005). Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act.
- [3]. Ministry of Women and Child Development, Government of India. (2020). National Policy for Women.
- [4]. UN Women. (2020). Progress of the World's Women 2019-2020: Families in a Changing World.
- [5]. United Nations. (1948). Universal Declaration of Human Rights.
- [6]. World Bank. (2018). Gender Equality and Development: World Development Report.
- [7]. Women's Rights Initiative. (2017). Women's Human Rights in India: A Status Report.