

The Role of NGOs in Education

Sakshi Salunke¹ and Ms. Surekha Gaikwad³

Students, TY BCOM¹

Research Guide²

MIT Arts, Commerce and Science College, Alandi (D), Pune, India

Abstract: Non government organisations (NGOs) play important role in education system in India. this paper examines concept of NGOs needs challenges and impact. NGOs please major role in the educational sector by filling the gap left by traditional system and addressing the need of underserved communities and paper explain what and you are and how they function. In education system NGOs provides resources and support to the schools and college where formal system falls shorts. This research also examines the various challenges facing by the NGO including financial difficulties, regulatory barriers, social obstacles and the impactof NGOs on education and highlight their success and positive changes by analysing existing Research and case studies. This paper aims to provide a clear image of how NGO contribute to education and the problem they counter an overcome effectiveness in improving educational outcome.

Keywords: Resource, Public, Social, Health, Cultural, Environment, Disaster,Development, Equality